STONE GG

The stone "look" finish is characterized by irregularities on the surface which makes it unique. It is achieved by using resin tinted in the mass with pigments. The finish has surface sanding marks and visible seams that are part of the products "look". The color varies on different parts of the surface area. The finish is not intended to be a realistic rendering of stone.

The wood is a living organic material that tends to shrink over time.
All real wood faces and heads are produced slightly "bigger" than standard size.
Each piece of wood is unique and its finish changes with each piece of wood used.
Cracks, knots and veins are part of the product's material aspect and charm.
